Long time ago there was a village called Minnesota. The village was made by one family. The priest name is Mulah and Mary and they have a two children one son and one girl the girl name is Say and the boy name is Paw. They live in the village for a long time. There was a many people adder to them and have a foods problem and also their was war in the village and Mulah move with other people from the village to new land. The man and women with other people use the wagons and move to the new land. On their way to new place they walk all day and noon so they met a land and spend the night and slept unto the next morning and they start the journey again to a new place the people it Indian and they live there from that time unto now so Mulah and his family live happy life, then Mary said to his Husband thanks to God for our life Oh! Honey that was wonderful for use to have a great family after the war again and then paw said to his sister say when will you get marry so I can become a uncle I will get marry when you bring your women home okay sister I accept why you say paw answer her sister then paw ask her sister again if you have a baby how will you called her or him and say said to paw maybe your name.
