

WinkWorld May 2006

Hello Friends,

This month I am sharing an approach to Socratic Seminars in the classroom. Thank you to Karalee McClymont and Heather Dragoo for sharing. Next month I will share another approach to Socratic Dialogue by Corri Figueiredo. This month, I am also sharing some of my own writing, Bilingual Basics. I conclude with our usual Prairie Pedagogy, and I have added a new section, Notes from The Real World.

Socratic Seminars in the Classroom

Karalee McClymont, Hughson High School

kmcclymont@hughson.k12.ca.us, or clymont@sbcglobal.net

Heather Dragoo, hdragoo@sjcoe.net East Union High School in Manteca

McClymont, K. (2006). Open a book, open a classroom, open a mind: An exploration of multicultural literature in secondary schools. Unpublished master's thesis, California State University, Stanislaus.

<http://www.JoanWink.com/newsletter/2006/SocraticSeminarsKaralee.pdf>

---

New WinkLinks

Nicholas Meier, Ph.D. of CSU Monterey Bay <http://www.nicholasmeier.com>

Bilingual Basics, which is being published by TESOL; I'll share the exact citation in the next edition of WinkWorld. <http://www.JoanWink.com/newsletter/2006/WinkBilBasicsTESOL.pdf>